

The physics window: shadow height needs the sun in a band

Height from shadow length alone, $h = L \cdot \tan(\text{elevation})$, with no depth model involved. Low sun sprawls shadows across terrain; high sun shortens them below the resolution of the image.